

Command Sponsorship FAQs

1. Where can I go to get the forms to file for command sponsorship?

Answer: The required documentation necessary for applying for Command Sponsorship can be found at <http://8tharmy.korea.army.mil>. Click on “How to bring your family to Korea” link. You will be shown, in detail, the required documents as well as the process of Command Sponsorship.

Please ensure the documents are complete and legible to avoid any delays.

2. How long does it take to get Command Sponsored?

Answer: Our goal is to have a CSP determination delivered within 7 business days. There are some situations that require additional processing and will unfortunately take additional time to process. Unique circumstances related to EFMP may result in a longer processing time.

3. What can cause my Command sponsorship to be disapproved?

Answer:

- 1) Command Sponsorship is a commander's tool primarily focused on readiness; therefore your request could be disapproved due to priority fill requirements within the command.
- 2) Non-availability of command sponsorship positions within the command during the time of your request.
- 3) Medical issues identified by EFMP that can't be supported in a certain area or throughout Korea.

4. Is there a waiting list, and if so how long is it?

Answer: Currently there are no waiting lists being managed by commands.

5. Can I fill them out or does my husband do that?

Answer: The military sponsor will have to complete the required documentation.

6. I'm waiting on an answer or notification on my CS request. Should I just call Korea to see if we have been assigned a case worker and number?

Answer: No. You should ask your local reassignment work center or family travel office for the control number for your case as they should have received it from MPD-Korea. You should check weekly with the agency that submitted your packet to ensure no additional documents were required which could hold up your approval.

7. Where can I check the status of my CS request?

Answer: Received and processing CSP case status' can be checked at <http://www.us.army.mil/suite/page/671823> (CAC Login Only) by using your supplied control number.

8. Where can I find the most up to date information regarding Command Sponsorship in Korea?

Answer: You can visit <http://www.facebook.com/8thArmyCSP> or <http://8tharmy.korea.army.mil> to find the most current CSP information.

9. Some people have been saying that people with kids and lower ranking soldiers are not getting approved. Is this true?

Answer: NO, reality is that we have been approving almost all requests received.
